The Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians recently hosted a groundbreaking ceremony for the new Boys and Girls Club Teen Center in the Pearl River Community. Once opened, this new facility will replace the current facility, which serves Tribal youth ages 12-18.

“The main thing we’re here for are these kids,” said Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben. “They need the space, and the opportunity came to us. I am glad that, along with the Tribal Council, all Boys and Girls Club staff, and with the help of Construction Management, we were able to facilitate something that will be here for future generations.”

Tribe, MaxxSouth Broadband Partner to Expand Broadband Access

The Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians is growing its partnership with MaxxSouth Broadband, whereby their existing broadband system is being expanded to serve over 2,000 tribal homes in six of the eight Tribal communities.

Earlier this year, the Tribe announced that it had received an $8.43 million Tribal Broadband Connectivity Program (TBCP) grant award from the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) that will provide funding for much needed internet access across Choctaw Tribal lands. The funding from the grant award will be used in part towards the Tribe’s partnership with MaxxSouth Broadband.

“The main thing we’re here for are these kids,” said Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben. “They need the space, and the opportunity came to us. I am glad that, along with the Tribal Council, all Boys and Girls Club staff, and with the help of Construction Management, we were able to facilitate something that will be here for future generations.”

Halito!

The temperatures are cooling down, and we all are looking forward to the fall activities that take place during this time of the year. Volleyball, cross country and football seasons have concluded, and winter sports, such as basketball and soccer, have begun.

It has been my honor to visit our Tribal and local area schools to congratulate our students, whether they were selected to their school’s homecoming court or receiving recognition as seniors in the sports that they play. It’s always wonderful to see our students succeeding, and I want them to know we are very proud of them.

To be recognized as the 2022 Citizen of the Year by the Philadelphia-Neshoba County Community Development Partnership meant so much to me. The official award was presented during their annual banquet on Monday, September 26, 2022, at the Neshoba County Coliseum.

I was proud to have my family members, Tribal Council representatives, our 2022-2023 Choctaw Indian Princess Cadence Raine Nickey, and Tribal and Pearl River Resort officials on hand to celebrate this recognition with me.

It was truly a great honor to be recognized by fellow citizens and leaders of my home county, Neshoba County, and the Pearl River Community, specifically, is where I have always called home, and my family and I are very proud to be part of this great community.

I commend each staff member of the Boys and Girls Club and all volunteers for making this year’s Day for Kids on Saturday, September 17 a successful one. It was great watching our youth having fun and seeing the smiles on their faces as they enjoyed a day of great activities. Congratulations on a job well done!

The Choctaw Elderly Activity Center hosted their American Indian Day Princess and Brave Pageant on Thursday, September 22. I was honored to be in attendance and to crown the winners. Congratulations to Princess Anita McCombs and Brave Larry Bell and great job to all the participants!

The Choctaw Tribal Schools celebrated American Indian Week with different cultural activities each day. It was wonderful to see our cultural regalia on display throughout the American Indian Day pageants that took place at each campus. I applaud each student who participated in these pageants and showcased their pride in their culture. Congratulations to all the winners!

On behalf of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians, I extend our sincere congratulations to Tribal member Rhonda Harjo (MBCI/Mvskoke Nation) and the 15 other Tribal leaders from around the country who were appointed to serve on the newly created Tribal Advisory Council at the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO).

Ms. Harjo is a former Deputy Chief Counsel for the U.S. Senate Committee on Indian Affairs. It was my honor to nominate her to this role. When I heard about this Tribal Advisory Council, I knew we needed to make sure a Chahta had a seat at the table, thereby giving us a voice in the room. Someone not just from our Tribe, but someone who knew Indian Country.

Rhonda has both the... tribal heritage and knowledge of Indian Country, as well as the added benefit of knowing the inner workings of Washington, D.C. I am glad that my recommendation and nomination of her was viewed favorably, and she was appointed to this Council. Ms. Harjo will serve well in this position.

I enjoyed the opportunity to visit each and every Tribal elementary school during Read-Aloud Month in October. Visiting our children and having the chance to spend time with these youngsters really warms my heart. Sometimes I’ll get a smile, a high-five, or a hug, and it truly brightens up my day!

Many of our parents, family members and community leaders took the opportunity to visit their child’s school and read to them. Seeing the support and care from family members and the community can be the biggest encouragement a child needs to succeed in their education.

Community Drive-Thru Trunk or Treats were held in the Henning Community on Saturday, October 22, all MBCI communities (except Conehatta) on Tuesday, October 25, and in the Conehatta Community on Sunday, October 30.

It was so wonderful to see the smiles on our youths’ faces as they waited in line, some in their great-looking costumes, to receive candies and other goodies. Thank you to each Tribal program, department, club and family who participated in these events for giving these children and their families a wonderful time!

During a special call Tribal Council meeting on Friday, September 9, Resolution CHO 22-118, a Resolution to Expand Gaming Operations and to Designate a Resort Area in the Crystal Ridge Community of the Choctaw Indian Reservation, was passed unanimously in a 17-0 vote. Expansion plans include a Travel Plaza on the Tribe’s land in Winston County featuring a convenience store, retail and commercial fuel pumps, a restaurant, gaming slots and a Sportsbook.

This new venture will provide the Tribe with new and diversified employment and financial opportunities, without displacing revenue from our existing properties.

Revenue from the Travel Plaza will be used to support the growing needs of Tribal infrastructure including Tribal government facilities, water systems, housing, IT and broadband projects as well as Tribal education needs such as planning, design and construction of new facilities, ongoing operations and maintenance costs and education projects.

Profits from this operation will have percentages set aside specifically for Tribal Infrastructure (25%) and Tribal Education (25%). This endeavor will help us be able to move forward in being better able to service our tribal members and provide the best future possible for our children/youth.

I want to thank the Resort Planning Team, which included tribal member management team members, for their work on the planning and presentation of the project, the CRDE Board and the Tribal Council in their important support on the future of our Tribe. I look forward to sharing more information with you as we continue important progress on our Tribal lands.

In addition to the above-mentioned Crystal Ridge project, there are other projects moving forward or soon beginning. I’m proud of the fact that we are still able to achieve progress across our Tribal lands despite the challenges we have faced in the past few years. My continued prayers are for peace and prosperity for our Tribe, our businesses, and our members and employees.

Cyrus Ben, Tribal Chief

CTS Read Aloud Events
Numerous individuals took part in this year’s Read Aloud Month activities in the local Choctaw Tribal Schools. Among those to participate were Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben & reigning Choctaw Indian Princess Cadence Nickey. Although speaking to your child about all kinds of things is good for their language development, reading does more. When you read aloud together, you build up your child’s “word bank” of vocabulary they know. You also introduce them to formal grammar & sentence structures (which might not be as apparent in our day-to-day conversation.) By reading consistently to a child, you improve their readiness to learn & give them the basic literacy skills to succeed in school. Some of the benefits of reading aloud include: language development; literacy skill building; instilling a love of reading; brain development; knowledge gained & shared; & personal bonding.

Head Start Awareness Month  Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben signed a proclamation declaring the month of October as Head Start Awareness Month. Children & staff members from the Pearl River Headstart Center, DOECE Princess Amara Bell & Brave Kreedon Dixon, & DOECE officials were present for the proclamation signing.

Congressman Guest Visits SPES

Congressman Guest was invited by SPES instructor Callie Bowman as students & faculty were honored for the visit. Chief Ben presented Congressman Guest a Choctaw basket as a token of his appreciation for his visit & continuous support of the MBCI. Standing Pine Tribal Council member Loriann Ahshapanek & SPES Principal Linda Peoples also offered their gratitude for the visit.
Chief Ben Honored by MC During 2022 Homecoming

Mississippi College alumnus Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben was honored as one of two alumni to receive the Order of the Golden Arrow at Mississippi College’s Homecoming Brunch on Saturday, October 29, 2022, in Clinton.

The other honoree, Joy Fain Dowdle ’02, ’05, is a summa cum laude graduate with highest honors at MC and a summa cum laude graduate of the Law School. She is a partner in the Litigation Department of Paul Hastings, based in the firm’s Houston, Texas, office, and vice chair of the firm’s Lifesciences and Healthcare practice.

The Order of the Golden Arrow honors individuals, alumni, or friends of the University who have made outstanding personal or professional achievements in their professions, businesses, or careers. It recognizes exceptional performance or leadership beyond the ordinary.

Chief Ben ’01, a member of the varsity football squad while at MC, is the fifth – and youngest – democratically elected chief of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians. A lifelong resident of Neshoba County, Ben was officially sworn into office on July 9, 2019. He is guided in his leadership and service to the Choctaw people by five key initiatives: respect of others; fairness and equity to all; accountability in all areas; efficiency in practices; and support and appreciation of all employees and tribal members.

Choctaws throughout Mississippi turn to Ben for the careful education and mentoring of their children and strong, thoughtful guidance of their community.

“Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben played football at MC and has a deep love for the college. We are very proud of his accomplishments, and we are excited to connect with the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians. It’s quite fitting that he would also receive this award,” said Jim Turcotte, vice president and executive director of alumni affairs at MC.

During a July visit by administrative leaders to Tribal lands in Neshoba County, MC President Blake Thompson and Ben signed a memorandum of understanding that solidified the Christian University’s special relationship with the only federally recognized American Indian tribe in Mississippi.

The MOU created a valuable tuition assistance program for Choctaw students, and established an expanded cultural exchange between MC and the MBCI. MC will host MBCI students and leaders on the Clinton campus for cultural exchange and educational programs designed to address the academic interests of MBCI members and their descendants.

“We worked on and completed the MOU with the hope that we can build a relationship that includes expanding the education of Choctaw history and culture to the faculty, staff, and students at Mississippi College,” said Ben.

He attended East Central Community College in Decatur before visiting MC.

“Mississippi College had a great educational reputation,” he said. “I always pushed myself academically, and so it ended up being a great fit. I made some great friends and, of course, received a wonderful education.

He was elected Tribal Chief about the same time as Thompson became MC’s 20th president.

“We both have made an effort to build a relationship between the Tribe and school, and I look forward to building a lasting connection between the two,” Ben said.

“It is my hope that the MOU will not only help MC students, faculty, and alumni develop a better understanding and appreciation for our tribe, our culture, and our heritage, but help facilitate that understanding and appreciation to others within our state and country.”

Ben said he has great respect for those who have been recognized as recipients of the Order of the Golden Arrow at MC.

“To be honored side-by-side with those before me is a wonderful feeling,” he said. “I like to say that I am Choctaw by blood and Choctaw by education. I am a proud member of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians and now a proud member of the Golden Arrow honorees.”
Mississippi College Homecoming attendees may have noticed an enhanced version of the University’s iconic brand mark and a vibrant new athletic logo.

The traditional MC letters received a nuanced adjustment, with clean, symmetrical lines, sharp, thin edges, and a more modern look. The new colors are a richer version of the beloved blue and gold.

The athletic logo is more striking: a stylized profile of an eagle – an important animal in the culture of the Choctaw people – adorned with feathers modeled after those prominently displayed in the crowns of Choctaw Indian Princesses.

The refreshed look, part of a new branding initiative at the 197-year-old Christian University, is intended to appeal to a new generation of students, according to Nick Stafford, director of marketing at MC.

“The rebrand is reflective of changes that are happening at the operations level of the University. We’re growing and striving to reach the next generation. We want to take strategic steps to reflect those changes that speak to that generation of students,” Stafford said.

The new branding initiative will also apply to the MC School of Law campus in downtown Jackson.

MC Introduces New Athletic Logo, Refreshed Brand Mark

Homecoming presented the perfect opportunity to unveil the design changes because it represented the largest gathering of current and former faculty, staff, students, families, and friends of the University.

“It’s important for our alums to see this rebrand because it’s the next evolution of something their lives are tied to. It’s the next step on the ladder that reaches generations,” said Stafford.

MC’s faculty and staff were treated to an “internal reveal” of the new brand mark during Convocation last spring. Stafford said the responses to the redesign were overwhelmingly supportive.

“Multiple faculty members have shared their comments about the logo,” he said. “The vast majority were positive about elements of the logo and the new direction of the brand. Many of them expressed excitement about the effort.”

music students Nyla Wilson, Serena Tubby, and Laila Lewis sang the National Anthem in Choctaw, followed by an invocation by Vice Chief Ronnie Henry, Sr. of the Bogue Chitto Community.

Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben spoke to the audience of all the challenges and adversities we faced since the Tribe last held the feast in 2019, prior to the pandemic, but through it all, we truly emphasized the resiliency of the Choctaw people.

“Each and everyone of you has gone through adversity in some shape, form, or fashion, but God gave us that blessing of having the strength and breath to walk upon this earth. I also thank the Lord for giving us this opportunity for acknowledging what He has brought us through and where we are today,” said Chief Ben.

“We have a path in life that God has called us to do. You may not feel like its a big thing when you lend a helping hand, but when you do things in your community, you are an intricate part in making things possible by helping others and making everything successful.”

Even through challenging times, the Tribe maintained progress as they received federal funding to construct nine COVID/Emergency Relief Facilities (CERF) throughout the Tribal communities and a Choctaw EMA Logistics Facility on the Choctaw Fire Department campus. The Tribe also established a partnership with MaxxSouth Broadband to expand their system to serve over 2,000 tribal homes in six of the eight Tribal communities. The Tribe received an $8.43 million Tribal Broadband Connectivity Program (TBCP) grant award earlier this year from the National Telecommunications and Information Administration (NTIA) that will provide funding for much needed internet access across Choctaw Tribal lands. Developments are also underway for Pearl River Resort, including the renovation of Dancing Rabbit Inn in Choctaw, expansion of Bok Homa Casino in Sandersville, and a new plaza in Louisville.

As 2023 approaches, the Choctaw Central High School

Door prizes were given away, with the grand prize being a beautiful beaded medallion made by Hester Allen.

Campus will celebrate 60 years in existence. With student population growth and an infrastructure in need of upgrades and modernization, a new high school/middle school campus is in the works on Highway 16 West.

“It will take time to build, but this is for the children, the grandchildren, and future generations. I hope the new facility we build will last 60 more years so other generations can have a place to learn and succeed,” Chief Ben said.

A state of the tribe video highlighting the accomplishments and successes of the Tribe in 2022 was presented by the Office of Public Information—Choctaw Video.

While attendees enjoyed their delicious Thanksgiving meal, entertainment was provided by the Red Water Elementary School music students as they performed several of their favorite song selections. Members of the Chahta Alla Youth Council Social Dancers performed several traditional social dances. After, Chief Ben presented the group with a check of $2,000 to assist with future community service projects.

Champions from the 2022 World Series Stickball (WSS) divisions were honored as they were presented their championship banners from Chief Ben, Princess Nickey, and WSS Commissioner Thomas Ben. Tribe Hosts 2022 Veterans Day Parade

Tribal veterans were honored during the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians annual Veterans Day Parade on Thursday, November 10, 2022, in Choctaw.

This year’s parade theme was, “I AM...,” as numerous organizations honored veterans for their proud service for this country. The parade route began at the Choctaw Sportsplex parking lot, traveling south on Black Jack Road and ending at the Choctaw Veterans Memorial Wall, located on the south parking lot of Geyser Falls Water Theme Park.

Reigning Choctaw Indian Princess Cadence Nickey served as mistress of ceremonies for the post-parade ceremony. Choctaw Veterans Color Guard members Franklin Hickman (Navy) and Ben Thompson (Marines) posted the flags of the U.S. and MBCI. Deidre Tubby performed the National Anthem in Choctaw and Fred Willis of the Office of Public Information offered the invocation.

Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben offered his appreciation to the veterans and their families. During this time of Thanksgiving, we should give thanks for their service, especially to those currently deployed all over the world.

“To our Tribal members serving throughout the U.S. or across the globe, we thank you. If you are a family member that’s here with a loved one deployed, we say thank you also. Your loved one is sacrificing and serving for each and every one of us. I thank each and everyone of you because it’s you who served, continue to serve, and allowing us to enjoy our freedom,” said Chief Ben.

“Let us continue to honor our veterans, day in and day out, and may God’s blessing be with each and every one of you,” Chief Ben added.

Kenneth Edwards, Veterans Service Officer for Neshoba County, served as guest speaker.

Members of Neshoba Central High School’s JROTC unit served as flag bearers to lead the parade procession from the Choctaw Sportsplex to the Choctaw Veterans Memorial.

Veterans Day Brunch

A Veterans Day brunch honoring all who served was held on Thursday, November 10, 2022, at the Silver Star Convention Center. The brunch was open to all MBCI Tribal Veterans registered with the Choctaw Veterans Committee, along with a guest. Hosted by Tribal Chief Cyrus Ben, the buffet-style meal was provided by Pearl River Resort. Pastor Thomas Ben offered the invocation, followed by remarks from Chief Ben and Tribal Council Veterans Affairs Committee members Richard Isaac and Wilma Simpson-McMillan as they thanked veterans in attendance for their sacrifice for our country. Other Tribal Council members in attendance were Nigel Gibson, Kent Wesley (Marines), Timothy Thomas, Sr., Richard Isaac, Richard Sockey (Navy), Wilma Simpson-McMillan, Demando Mingo, and Vice-Chief Ronnie Henry, Sr. Entertainment included traditional social dancing from students of Pearl River Elementary School and drumming by the Southern Pine drum group.
speaker. After serving 20 years in the Navy, he retired in 2008 with the rank of Master-at-Arms First Class.

“A veteran has sacrificed him or herself with long hours of training, loneliness, and days gone by when we didn’t know if we were going to see this day. I thank you all for honoring your veterans because it takes family, friends, and loved ones in order for us to go and defend this great nation of ours. It’s not only a sacrifice for us, it’s a sacrifice for you all. In order to go and serve, we have to understand that someone is behind handling all the business. We are not alone,” said Edwards.

He added Native Americans have served their country diligently, even in the face of adversity meant to keep them suppressed.

“They were warriors. They strapped their boots up tight and went to war. They did what they had to do to protect what was theirs. They’re always looked upon as some of the bravest we have ever seen.”

Growing up in the Sandtown community outside Philadelphia, Edwards recalled traveling with his brothers to the Bogue Chitto community to participate in recreational sports. He befriended several Tribal members during that time, but it was one friend, John Michael John, who surprised him in Norfolk, VA after he enlisted in the Navy.

“We called him ‘John-John’ and we tried to figure out how two boys from Neshoba County got to meet up in Norfolk, VA? We had that common bond, being from here and knowing one another growing up. We knew what we went through, but we served our country with pride, honor, and dignity,” said Edwards.

“John-John was on the USS Ashley and I was on the USS Guston Hall. On August 3rd, we shook hands and said, ‘I’ll see you when I see you.’ We were headed to the Persian Gulf and we didn’t know when we would return. Many days I looked out on the horizon through the big eyes and I

Influenza (flu) is a contagious respiratory illness caused by the influenza virus that infects the nose, throat, & lungs. Some people, especially people 65 years & older, young children, & people with additional health concerns, are at higher risk of developing serious complications from the flu. The best way to reduce your risk of getting the flu is by getting a flu vaccine each year.

The Centers for Disease Control & Prevention recommends that everyone ages 6 months & older get a flu vaccine. Flu vaccines are available now at the Choctaw Health Center & outlying clinics.

Suicide prevention and awareness is extremely important and it is imperative that we educate ourselves on how to notice signs and how to take action to help our friends and loved ones. Click here: https://www.mayoclinic.org/diseases-conditions/suicide/in-depth/suicide-art-20044207.html

Flu Vaccines Available

Influenza (flu) is contagious and can be serious. Every year, millions of people get influenza, and thousands to tens of thousands of people die from flu. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) urges people to take the following actions to protect yourself and others from flu:

1. Get a Flu Vaccine: A yearly flu vaccine is the first and most important step in protecting against flu viruses. Everyone 6 months or older should get an annual flu vaccine. Protect Yourself, Protect Your Family. Get Vaccinated. #fightflu
2. Stay Home When Sick: Stay home from work, school, and public areas if you have flu-like symptoms.
3. Cover Your Cough: Cover your cough and sneeze with a tissue or your sleeve.
4. Wash Your Hands: Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds.
5. Clean and Disinfect: Clean frequently touched objects and surfaces for 10 to 30 seconds with a product that contains at least 60% alcohol.
6. Avoid Crowded Places: Avoid crowded places, public transportation, and public events. If you must go out, wear a mask.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR ABOUT FLU ANTIVIRALS

Take antiviral drugs if your doctor prescribes them! Antiviral drugs can be used to treat flu illness and can make illness milder and shorten the time you are sick.

What is RSV?

An early and severe surge of Respiratory Syncytial Virus (RSV) is taking place in multiple regions of the country and overwhelming children’s hospitals. Usually circulating from late fall through early spring, hospitals typically see a jump in RSV cases in late winter. This year, cases began appearing this summer and have steadily risen since, creating significant capacity issues at children’s hospitals across the country.

RSV is a common respiratory virus that usually causes mild, cold-like symptoms. Most people recover in a week or two, but RSV can be serious, especially for infants. RSV is the most common cause of bronchiolitis (inflammation of the small airways in the lung) and pneumonia (infection of the lungs) in children younger than 1 year of age.

While most people recover in a week or two, RSV can be serious in infants and older adults. American Indian and Alaska Native (AI/AN) infants are at increased risk of severe RSV compared to infants across the US, with 10 percent of Native American infants hospitalized with RSV infections each year.

People infected with RSV are usually contagious for 3 to 8 days. However, some infants, and people with weakened immune systems, can continue to spread the virus even after they stop showing symptoms, for as long as 4 weeks. Children are often exposed to and infected with RSV outside the home, such as in school or child-care centers. They can then transmit the virus to other members of the family.

RSV can spread when:
• You have direct contact with the virus, like kissing the face of a child with RSV.
• You get virus droplets from a cough or sneeze in your eyes, nose, or mouth.
• You touch a surface that has the virus on it, like a doorknob, and then touch your face before washing your hands.

You are not alone
Pause and remember, there is hope.

Who Knew the Real World Cost So Much
Submitted by Kaiti Ford, MSU Extension Agent

Participants in the Employment & Training summer session got a glimpse on how much “the real world” costs on a monthly basis. Participants were given an occupation, as close to their desired occupation as possible, & a scenario to “budget” their expenses needed for them & their family. Participants went to stations representing certain expenses, such as transportation, food, entertainment, clothing, etc., & chose categories from each station that best fit their budget. All participants realized the “real world” costs a lot! A big thank you to Julia Lindsey, Dawnena Jefferson & the Employment & Training Department for allowing the Tribal MSU Extension Office to come & implement this wonderful program to your department!

Choctaw Language Finds Home on World’s Most Translated Website

The most translated website in the world — jw.org, the official website of Jehovah’s Witnesses — includes content in more than 1,030 languages, including many Indigenous languages considered at risk of dying out.

Among them are Central Alaskan Yupik, spoken by some 10,000 in Alaska, as well as Blackfoot, Cherokee, Choctaw, Hopi, & Navajo.

“Translating Indigenous languages is a labor of love for all those involved & for our organization,” said Robert Hendriks, the U.S. spokesman of Jehovah’s Witnesses. “The work is challenging & time consuming. But our goal isn’t to make a profit, it’s to provide the Bible’s comforting message clearly & accurately to as many people as possible.”

Patty Nickerson, full-blood Choctaw, is a member of the Philadelphia, MS congregation of Jehovah’s Witnesses. The Witnesses knocked on her door more than 25 years ago.

“I was living in Newton County at the time,” explains Patty. “They answered all my questions using the Bible & that caught my interest, especially when I learned God has a name - Jehovah.”

Today, Patty continues to volunteer her time sharing what she’s learned from the Bible with her family & others in the community; especially those living on the Choctaw Reservation.

The reservation of the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians reaches into eight counties in the state (Neshoba, Leake, Newton, Scott, Jones, Attala, Kemper, & Winston). The tribe is one of three bands of Choctaw with federal recognition in the U.S.

“I was raised on the reservation with my mom who was a single parent,” says Patty. “When I first began studying the Bible, she was concerned. But in time, she saw the benefits that studying had brought to me. She even began having her own Bible study but became ill & passed away during that time.”

Today, Patty’s husband & a daughter share her faith. Another daughter & several grandchildren are now studying the Bible, too.

“Choctaw almost became a lost language,” says Patty. “Having Bible-based information & videos in Choctaw on the jw.org website helps them to know that Jehovah is interested in Choctaw people, not just certain people. Choctaws are special to him, too.”

For Patty Nickerson, the Choctaw publications on jw.org has helped her to embrace her culture while deepening her faith.
